Western News Staff
The search for woman believed
have been swept
down the rushing Ashnola River near

Keremeos came to a tragic end last Saturday.
RCMP confirmed
the body of the missing woman was located and recovered.

"Sadly, earlier this morning search and rescue crews located the body of a
deceased woman
approximately 14
kilometres down
stream of the Ashnola River from the collision site, and
about one kilometre
prior to where the Ashnola River enters
into the Similkameen River," said Cpl.
Jesse O'Donaghey,
spokesperson for the BC RCMP in a press
release last Saturday.
"Due to the high risk associated to recovering the deceased from the river's rapidly flowing
waters search and rescue personnel
took the time necessary to safely carry out the recovery mission."
The woman has since been identified as 43-year old Amy Sabean. Her family
has been notified.
The BC Coroners
Service has also launched its own investigation into Sa-
bean's unexpected
death.

The Ashnola River, 10 kilometres past Keremeos, was the site where the body of a woman was recovered. (Contributed)

Regional search and rescue teams from Penticton, Princeton, Hope, Vernon, Kelowna and Nicola Valley were all involved in the search along with Keremeos RCMP, RCMP Air 4 and Keremeos Highway Patrol.
Border agencies had also been notified.
The search began after Sabean drove off the road and into the fast moving river Friday (June 4) after 11 a.m.
Police believe Sabean was swept away by turbulent water in the Ashnola River and disappeared.
According to RCMP, Sabean was driving a Chevrolet Blazer and was followed by a separate vehicle while along Ashnola at approximately 4-5 kilometres towards the main Sabean road, the way to the west.
